BOUDREAU WELCOMES JUSTIN ABRAMS, AIA

COLUMBIA, S.C. (February 3, 2020) - BOUDREAU—an architecture, interiors, and planning firm—is proud to announce that Justin Abrams, AIA has joined our team as an Project Architect. With over 15 years of experience, Justin embodies our ideal blend of design talent and technical ability. He is using both as a key part of our University of South Carolina Campus Village project.

Sharing our mission of enriching communities, Justin has served American Institute of Architects Columbia in many leadership roles including President, Vice President, and board member. He served AIA South Carolina as their Emerging Professional Director and is a former Columbia Design League Board Member. Justin is also a Leadership Columbia graduate.

Justin earned his Bachelor of Science in Design and his Masters of Architecture, both from Clemson University. He often returns as a guest critic in their architectural studios. We are glad to have his energy and skill sets as BOUDREAU continues to serve and inspire.

For more information, please visit BOUDREAU at BoudreauxGroup.com or call us at 803-799-0247. BOUDREAU is located at 1519 Sumter Street, Columbia, SC. 29201.
