

BOUDREAU - Experienced Architect Wanted in Columbia or Charlotte

Join our thriving team as we cultivate relationships, design inspiring places and enrich communities throughout the Carolinas from both our Columbia and Charlotte studios.

BOUDREAU is looking for creative, driven, and resourceful individuals to be part of project teams through design and construction. We are seeking a technical-minded architect with a minimum of 7 years of experience either currently licensed (preferred) or quickly on the path to licensure. Strong Revit and exterior detailing skills are essential along with the ability to quickly and intuitively explore design options. Excellent communication skills, humble approach and a collaborative spirit are also a must along with a passion for mentoring and a focus on quality.

BOUDREAU is a team of industry leaders focused in higher education, faith-based, workplace, local government, and historic preservation markets. We are powered by an enthusiastic team with studios in Columbia and Charlotte. Founded in 1976, our company will celebrate 50 years of impact across the Carolinas in 2026. We work collaboratively across both studios to bring the best of what we have to offer to each project and client. This position is available in either our Columbia or Charlotte location.

Why BOUDREAU?

With foundational focuses on work-life balance and professional growth and development, we strive to create a family friendly, collaborative environment for our team members to learn and thrive in.

We also offer:

- Competitive compensation with a great benefits package
- Flexible working hours
- 401(k) plan with match
- Opportunity to help develop and curate your own professional development program
- PTO, sick time, comp time, and holidays
- Continuing education support
